Commentary

In November, the NAV per share was down 2.6%, the share price was down 2.0% and the benchmark NASDAQ Biotechnology Index (sterling adjusted) was down 1.2%.

Bluebird Bio, Illumina, and Juno Therapeutics were the top positive contributors to performance during the month. Bluebird shares appreciated due to the publication of an abstract from the American Society of Hematology conference showing incrementally positive new data for its sickle cell gene therapy program. Additionally, investors anticipated that additional positive data would be presented at the conference for Bluebird's anti-BMCA CAR-T therapy for myeloma. Illumina shares were strong due to speculation of high demand in its direct to consumer business. Juno shares outperformed due to positive preliminary data for its CD19 CAR-T program which suggested efficacy and safety advantages over competing therapies.

Puma Biotechnology and Regeneron Pharmaceuticals were the largest negative contributors to performance during the month. Puma shares underperformed due to disappointing sales of Nerlynx in its first quarter on the market. Regeneron shares were weak due to the failure of two phase II trials of its Ang2 inhibitor.

Investment Policy

In order to achieve its investment objective, the Company invests in a diversified portfolio of shares and related securities in biotechnology companies on a worldwide basis. The Company will not invest more than 15% of the value of its gross assets in any one individual stock at the time of acquisition. It will not invest more than 10% of the value of its gross assets in direct unquoted investments at the time of acquisition. This limit does not include any investment in private equity funds managed by the Portfolio Manager or any affiliates of such entity. Where the Company invests in swaps, exposure to underlying assets will not exceed 5% of the gross assets of the Company at the time of entering into the contract.

Discount Control Mechanism

The Directors have adopted an active discount management policy to establish and support an improved rating in the Company's shares through the use of share buybacks, with a view to limiting the discount to NAV per share at which the shares trade to no more than 6%.

The Biotech Growth Trust PLC conducts its affairs so that its shares can be recommended by independent financial advisers ("IFAs") to retail private investors. The shares are excluded from the Financial Conduct Authority's ("FCA's") restrictions which apply to non-mainstream investment products because they are shares in a UK-listed investment trust.
